Requirements for Temporary Food Premises and Vehicles

Hawkesbury City Council requirements

All food traders intending to sell food will need to fill out the registration form overleaf for Temporary Food Premises and Food Vending Vehicles.

This needs to be filled out and sent back to Council. A receipt of registration will be sent back to you, the vendor, and must be retained on the food premises during operation within the Hawkesbury City local government area. Registration will be current for each financial year. Once the period of registration lapses a new application form will need to be completed.

As of 1 July 2017, food stall holders and food vending vehicles will be required to pay an inspection fee. Inspection fees commence from $86.50 for low risk production to $173 for high risk food production.

Please be advised that inspection fees should only be paid when an Environmental Health Officer conducts an inspection of the food stall holder or food vending vehicle or in the case of large organised events during routine inspections.

If you are attending a large event(s):

You are encouraged to register early if attending an event(s) by sending in the form before the event(s) you will be attending.

It should be noted that registration forms received 30 days prior to the event will receive a discounted inspection fee.

It should be noted that the above fees are only applicable when an inspection has been conducted and should not be paid when registering only.

A re-inspection fee of $95 (within the financial year of registration) is applicable if food stalls or vehicles are not of a satisfactory standard and do not meet food regulation requirements.

Temporary food stalls that are held by not-for-profit community groups or charities are exempt from paying and fees. To claim an exemption you must provide appropriate information, which verifies that you are a charitable organisation. Please note that charitable groups will still be inspected.

Preparation of food for sale in any buildings, vehicles or stalls for public consumption must comply with Council's "Food safety Guidelines for Charities & Community Organisations" brochure and Council's "Code for Construction of Food Vending Vehicles". You are encouraged to read the requirements of the Food Standards Code in collaboration with this brochure. For more information please contact Hawkesbury City Council's Environmental Health Branch on (02) 4560 4565.

NSW Food Authority requirements

Food regulation in NSW has changed. Businesses involved in temporary events are now required to notify on a state-wide notification database. It is the responsibility of the food business (you) to notify the NSW Food Authority.

Food business notification may be completed through the Internet. You can enter the required information yourself on-line at www.foodnotify.nsw.gov.au. Further information may be obtained by contacting the NSW Food Authority on 1300 552 406.
