

EPHEMERA

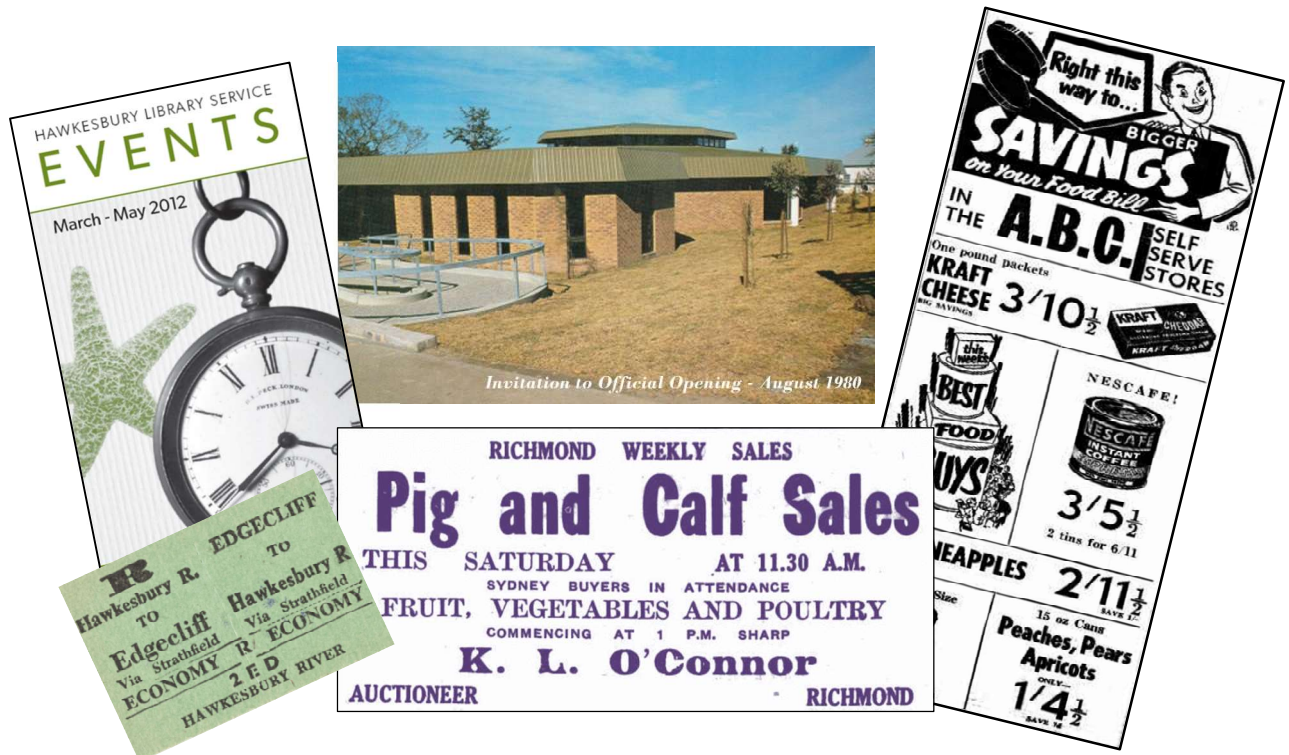

HAWKESBURY LIBRARY SERVICE - LOCAL STUDIES FACT SHEET

Description

The Ephemera Society (UK) defines Ephemera as "The minor transient documents of everyday life." They are things that were produced, expecting to exist short-term and were only useful as they survived after the event. Some types of ephemera have become popular and have become collectable.

Introduction

Hawkesbury Library's Local Studies Collection contains a unique collection of material reflecting all aspects of the Hawkesbury district. This includes a range of formats including maps, photographs, maps, publications, newsletters, newspapers and ephemera.

The Collection

Ephemera has been collected at Hawkesbury Library Service since the 1990s. It is not the type of material usually collected or found elsewhere. The value of this type of material is that it has survived. Items include information about daily life in the Hawkesbury, community and cultural events as well as Hawkesbury City Council leaflets. They are sorted into years and are currently being digitised.
